Lord, At Any Cost

A Study of Revelation 1:1-11

The promise of Scripture is that “everyone who wants to live a godly life in Christ Jesus will be persecuted.” [2 Timothy 3:12]

There is a suffering that is “ours in Jesus” – John writes in Revelation, which comes from testifying without compromise to the word of God and the testimony of Jesus. John knows – he is writing from prison. His readers know – they are enduring the same opposition.

The Revelation given – the message of comfort – is not found in a quest for knowing the end times. It is found in the Revelation of Jesus Christ Himself, and specifically in the mighty work He accomplished on the Cross.

Is this a study for our time? What do we know about suffering in the American Church? Is it possible we have compromised the Gospel in the pulpit so that we might attract more people? Have we done the same personally so we might not suffer insults, risk our jobs, or lose family members and friends? Are we bold witnesses in the Church and among Christian friends – but secret disciples in the world?

If there is to be a day of great awakening again in our land it is going to begin with a prayer – from those who confess the name of the Lord Jesus – that we are willing to follow Him, in the power of the Spirit, at any cost.

No-Cost Christianity raises the question: What will we be like in the testing? Will we be “stony ground hearers” or will we be found in the good soil – bearing fruit in Jesus Christ to the glory of our Father in heaven?
